

Alerts and Phone Calls

The application is persistent in relevant notifications (e.g. medication intake alert, medication interaction alert) until the user confirms reading.

If users receive a phone call meanwhile executing the application, normal activity within the application should be retaken after finalization of the phone call.